League Report Little Help In J. C. Problem

Carmel Unified School District Board decided Tuesday night to wait until they have facts on which to form an opinion before they commit their taxpayers to a Monterey Peninsula Junior College District.

Two of the board members indulged in criticism of Carmel citizens who are asking an accounting of what the proposed merger with the Monterey Junior College will cost.

School Board Member Mrs. Julian von Meier, who is also president of the League of Women Voters, which is promoting a campaign to get Carmel in the Monterey Junior College District, accused the Pine Cone of misrepresentation. The Pine Cone has used figures provided by Carmel School District Superintendent Stuart Mitchell, which he obtained from the Monterey High School District officials. None other have been available. We have urged that a citizens' committee be appointed to assemble data and evaluate it.

Board Member J. O. Handley launched into a tirade against the Carmel-by-the-Sea Motelmens' Association which had addressed a letter to the board, asking that action on involvement with Monterey Junior College District be delayed until the board could produce a price tag. The Carmel Board of Realtors asked the same thing in their letter to the board. Mr. Handley said the hotelmen "should be ashamed of themselves," that they took no part in civic affairs, were in contact only with tourists, cared nothing for the community, kicked at every prospect of taxes, had no kids of their own and cared nothing about the kids of the community.

Though they are small in number, the hotelmen have a record for civic service and interest which isn't bad. One of them is a Carmel City Councilman; another, the president of their organization, spent Tuesday hi-jacking 16 of his business friends into renting spaces by the month in the Carmel Lions Club Parking lot. Money from the Lions Parking Lot goes to their youth fund. The Lions have paid for radiant heating for the Carmel High School swimming pool, more recently for grading a baseball field at the high school, which the school board has never found money for in its budget. The Carmel Real Estate Association may have had this chronic lack of funds for a baseball field in mind when they appended to their letter to the board, the comment that in thinking about joining a junior college district, first consideration should be directed to providing needed school facilities for the children in our own district. Or maybe they were referring to the dangerous roof on Sunset School Auditorium which the board has promised to replace every year since Mr. Handley has been a member of the board.

Mrs. von Meier's comment, "Do they think our responsibility to our children ends with high school" is typical of a lot of unthinking in connection with the problem. Anyone who asks the school board to slow up until they know the relative costs of joining up or staying out of the J. C. District is accused of being an enemy of the kids and of free

Edda M. Heath Pappell, one of Carmel's early artists, whose enthusiasm helped establish the Carmel Art Association Galleries on Dolores Street, will have a one-man show at Town House during the month of June, starting with a tea 3:00 to 4:30 o'clock Wednesday.

Miss Heath was born in Brooklyn, New York, first studied art at Pratt Institute in that city, working under Frank Drummond and Arthur Dow. After further work at Adelphi College, with Professor Whitaker, she entered the portrait class of William M. Chase in the New York School of Art. Later, after two years of painting Angora cats and kittens, she worked again under Chase at Shinnecock summer school.

About this time, buying a piece of land in northern New Jersey, she discovered an old stone wall 15 feet wide and six feet deep from which was constructed a studio house, where she worked most of the year, going to Ogunquit, Maine, in the summers to paint marines.

What first brought Edda Heath to Carmel, curiously enough, was an opportunity for a one-man show to be given in New York. She came here in 1928 to prepare for this show which was held on her return to New York, at Babcock's Gallery.

Making a quick return to Carmel, Miss Heath became interested in the Carmel Art Association, which she was promptly elected treasurer, serving two terms. At that time the Association exhibitions were held once a year in the Denny-Watrous Gallery. Feeling this to give very inadequate time for the local artists to show their work, Edda Heath became one of the early and enthusiastic promoters of the purchase of the land and studio on Dolores Street which was later enlarged to become the present Art Association Gallery.

As Miss Heath describes the event, "Mr. Barnett Segal and I gave one whole winter talking to the artists and persuading them to get together and each to give a painting. We started with William Ritschel, talked about two hours, then he gave us one that was hanging in Del Monte, priced at $1200. People who took out a life membership for $100 were entitled to draw for a painting. We collected $1000 for our first payment after putting down $200. There were 35 artists. The addition to the studio was begun during my second term as treasurer, and that was some trial. We had drawings and paintings, dances, masked balls to raise money, and checks were brought in by helping friends of the artists, and finally we got out of debt and I was glad to retire."

Miss Heath was formerly a member of Ogunquit Art Gallery, Brooklyn Society of Artists, Salons of America, Yonkers Museum of Art Association; has present membership in Carmel Art Association, Society of Western Artists, American Artists Professional League, New York and California.

Highlands Memorial Honors Pat Riley

A flagpole and memorial plaque at the Carmel Highlands Fire Department were dedicated this morning at 11:30 o'clock to the memory of Patrick Morgan Riley, a former Highlands volunteer fireman who was killed in an automobile accident a year ago. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Riley of Point Lobos.

The Right Reverend Winfred H. Ziegler, retired Bishop of Wyoming, and a Carmel Highlands resident, dedicated the pole and plaque in the ceremonies conducted by fire department members, the Highlands Fire Commission, and Eagle Scout members of Carmel Boy Scout Troop 86 of which Pat Riley was a member.

The Memorial Day observances were attended by Carmel Highlands residents, former Bay School classmates of Pat Riley's, family members and friends.

Rabies Warning To Carmel; Keep Pets Locked Up

Alarmed by a case of rabies in Seaside, Dr. Myron B. Husband, Director of Public Health for Monterey County, called a meeting of city officials and local veterinarians at the Mark Thomas Inn at noon yesterday. Plans to control spread of rabies in this area and throughout the county were formulated and definite announcement of vaccination clinics for both dogs and cats will be made next week.

At present pet owners in Carmel are requested to confine their dogs and cats as a safeguard against the animals being infected by rabies, according to Arthur Plaxton, Carmel Tax and License Collector, who represented the city at the meeting.

Mr. Plaxton urges all dog owners to have their pets licensed. Only 300 dogs have been licensed this year in the city. Vaccination against rabies is a requirement for a license.

Vaccination clinics will be set up in all Monterey Peninsula cities by the County Health Department with members of the Monterey Bay Area Veterinary Medical Association donating their time to vaccinate both dogs and cats. Only charge will be $1.50 for the vaccine used. One vaccination protects a pet against infection.

The rabies outbreak first started in Castroville a month ago and has now spread to Seaside where several days ago a rabid dog bit its owner. Ten other dogs from the Seaside area are now under county observance as suspected rabies cases.

Incubation time for rabies may be as long as a year. Dr. L. J. Campbell, president of the Monterey Bay Area Veterinary Medical Association, stresses. Location of the bite from a rabid animal determines how long incubation takes. The nearer the brain the bite occurs the sooner the rabies virus reaches the brain and madness results. Rabies is also spread by saliva from a rabid animal entering an open wound, added Dr. Campbell. Dogs, cats and humans may be infected in this manner.

Carmel is the only Peninsula community in which dogs are allowed to run free in the residence zone. Rather than enforce a county-wide quarantine, county officials are asking Carmel dog and cat owners to confine their pets until the rabies outbreak is controlled. The last outbreak of the disease in the county was in 1942 when a county-wide quarantine was imposed lasting almost a year. During this time no dogs were allowed to enter or leave the area and were confined under penalty of law.

Residents are requested to report any suspicious animals to the County Health Department at once. Bites from any animals must also be reported immediately so that the biting animal may be placed under observation. Confining pets protects them, other animals and human beings.

WATERCOLORS ON DISPLAY

Watercolor studies of wild flowers by Roland Wilson, former head ranger at Point Lobos State Park, are on display at the Pacific Grove Museum for two months. The paintings are originals of the illustrations used in the California Division of Beaches and Parks Booklet, Wild Flowers at Point Lobos.

EIGHT CARMEL MPC GRADUATES

Eight students from Carmel will receive Associate of Arts degrees at Monterey Peninsula College graduation exercises on June 15 in King Hall at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School. They are Ernestine Buzenz, Judith Grimes, Karl Harris, Robert Martin, Terri Otterson, Elizabeth Sheldon, Joong Hyon Shin and Sandra Six.

There were 85 fulltime students at Monterey College this year from Carmel; 100 part-time students. This is about average ratio of attendance to graduation over the past five years.

Carmel Students Hurt Returning Home From Senior Ball

Robert Martin Leidig, 18, is reported in serious condition at the Peninsula Community Hospital as a result of undetermined injuries, including head injuries, suffered last night in an automobile accident.

Leidig and two companions, Clyde Roy Klaumann, 18, and Nancy Nielsen, 18, all seniors at Carmel High School, were returning from the Senior Ball at Carmel Valley Inn when Leidig, driver of the car, lost control and hit a power pole on Brookdale Drive. Klaumann and Nancy Nielsen escaped with minor injuries although, Nancy was ejected from the car by the impact of the collision.

Carmel Unincorp Meets To Form New Fire District

Carmel Unincorporated set in motion formation of a new fire district for the areas surrounding the city at their meeting in Carmel High School last night.

The Board of Supervisors ordered an election to dissolve the present district for next Tuesday.

A petition from the Carmel Unincorporated members asking that a new district be formed with a tax limit set at 50 cents is now in the hands of the Supervisors, Captain M. R. Allen, president of Carmel Unincorporated, reported to members last night.

Last night members authorized a letter asking the Board of Supervisors to reappoint former Fire Commissioners, James Pruitt, Ed Neroda and Frank Bray.

An election to establish the new district must be held before February 1 if the district is to receive county funds next year.

WALT HELM BATS PADRES TO WIN OVER KING CITY

Carmel High's varsity baseball team closed out the league season with a 3-1 victory over King City Friday afternoon as Walt Helm, fast-improving third-sacker, belted a perfect three for three. With Tim O'Shea bearing down in the tight spots to throttle the Mustang swingers, the local nine overcame a one-run lead in the fourth inning to go in front to stay. Wild in spots but enjoying good support from his teammates, O'Shea doled out three hits, walked seven, and struck out six. The victory over King City was a big one for the Padre nine as it saved the red and gray from the ignominious distinction of finishing deep in the league cellar. King City and Carmel were locked up in last place before Friday's game and the loss pushed the Mustangs into the dark cavern.

At the finish of CCAL B-division play, Hollister is firmly ensconced in first place with a perfect record for the season — 12 wins and no losses. Hollister's brilliant little lefthander, Tony Aguirre, garnered all the wins for the Haybalers. Pacific Grove finished in second place with a 9-3 record.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Carmel High's baseball squad enjoyed the hospitality of the Salinas Packers last week as the Salinas nine hosted the Stockton Ports. The Carmel lads picked a good night to visit the Packer Stadium as Henry Overin, former Padre pitching great, was on the mound for the Ports. Despite all the vocal support from the Carmel aggregation, Overin came home a 10-2 loser as the Ports made 10 errors to keep the Carmel lefty in hot water for the entire game. The Packers are an interesting ball club this season with good speed, sound pitching, and a sprinkling of seasoned veterans to go with the youngsters. Leo Thomas, playing manager, steadies the infield from his third-base spot and provides the long ball threat whenever he is at the plate.

Monday night's Carmel Little League action ended in a tie game as the Sport Shop and San Carlos Agency battled to a 7-7 deadlock. The tie may have an important bearing on the first half title as San Carlos is up near the top and a tie game lowers the winning percentage. Joe Sponsler and Bob Baumann curved them over for Lew McCreery's Sports while Lyndon Mahrt went the route for Jack Miller's San Carlos Agency. Little League play continues tonight with George Baxter's Pilot Market crew crossing bats with the San Carlos Aggregation in the second game of the second half.

A shakeup in the Carmel Merchant softball team finds managers Artellan and Sands on the prowl for a winning pitcher. The Merchants gave Johnny DeAmaral the pink slip after the little speedball artist became involved in umpire disputes and displays of temper tantrums. The latest reports from the hot stove league has it that Buzz Rainer, Carmel High track and JV football coach, will come out of retirement and don the Merchants regalia. While at USC, the 225-pound speedballer was the scourge of fraternity row in the intramural league.

Although they dropped a pair of games to Salinas High, the Monterey Toreadores won the big one last Friday to cinch the CCAL A-division baseball title. Coach Danny Albert's charges clipped Watsonville in the season's finale while the Santa Cruz Cardinals did the Toreadores a favor by clipping the potent Salinas Cowboys. The best infield in the league plus the sensational pitching of Fred Rick were the ingredients which brought the title to Monterey. Carmel and Monterey played a home and home series this season with the Padres winning at Bardarson Field and Monterey taking the nod at El Estero Park.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Dedication of the Memorial Pipe Organ at the Church of the Wayfarer brought forth a performance of the famous Gabriel Faure Requiem, rarely heard outside of France, though Cornell Carruth, Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, had given it some years ago at St. Paul's in Oakland and undoubtedly was the inspiration of the Carmel presentation. It proved an impressive offering and one of distinction in the music annals of the Peninsula, played in a masterly way by Mr. Carruth and sung by the Chapel Singers under John Farr's capable direction. Mr. Farr also delivered one of the baritone solos in good voice and feeling, and had made a happy choice of the others in Zeala Wright and David Schoenbrod. The exacting soprano part was handled by the singer with comprehension and some angelic effects, while Schoenbrod's fine voice and sympathetic modulation was a surprise even to those who knew him. The beauty of Faure music, with its individual continuity dispensing largely with leading notes, was felt by the large audience present, though few may have realized that its performance was making American musical history in the Wayfarer Church with an organ that has already been played by famous musicians including Edwin Lemare, Marcel Dupre and other foreign notables with Virgil Fox, Richard Purvis and Ludwig Altman among Americans, most of them before the original organ was brought from The Abbey studio of the Carruths in Oakland.

Preceding the Requiem and following the Act of Dedication by Dr. Gray and Act of Presentation by Eugene Harrah, a brilliant rendition of Bach's Fantasia in G minor and a sympathetic Berceuse by Wm. Carruth demonstrated the possibilities of the fine organ. The whole carried out by the musicians the high objective and mission of music that had been beautifully expressed by Dr. Gray in the words of the Dedication and responses. Gratitude and recognition are due those who fundamentally contributed to the Memorial Organ—first of which was Mrs. Grace Howden, whose local initiative in musical matters also help found the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in 1946. Other gifts reported included a large bible opened and placed on the lectern for the first time.

Handel's Arioso Thanks be to God appropriately concluded the final prayer of gratitude and adjournment was made to the garden room for greetings and refreshments, arranged by the Memorials committee.

Missing the Washington concert series of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra for so long I could not resist a trip to San Francisco to hear the second event of the current tour. It was a rewarding experience for no orchestra in the Country supercedes the Philadelphia as an instrument for the most inspired conductors. Eugene Ormandy as regular director has handled it for nearly twenty years, and as Frankenstein of The Chronicle remarked, it would be interesting and illuminating to hear them play a simple scale so perfect is the tone and precision. A sold-out standee house greeted the Brahms, Strauss, Harris and Tchaikowsky program. In all my years of listening, the Tchaikowsky No 4 never sounded as it did last Wednesday. The pizzicato movement alone was a revelation, while the whole responded to Mr. Ormandy's artistic vision with characteristic excellence. Generally conceded by the critics to be now the world's finest symphony orchestra, no wonder Europe was surprised in their tour there last year. Mr. Ormandy asked me to send him some of our Monterey Symphony programs, which should be of interest to our symphony supporters.

The Time Has Come

by Kippy Stuart

Today, Decoration Day, Uncle Sam honors his dead. On each grave, throughout the land there will be one white gardenia and one small American Flag before each headstone. It is comforting to realize that our country does not forget its debt to these gallant soldiers who have given their lives that we may live.

Small cemeteries, long abandoned for use, hidden away in valley and dale are not forgotten. Today, our land is bright with flowers and flags.

Nature is a far better gardener than we human amateurs. Year after year, I struggle with gladiolus, fighting the insect and mold that attach themselves to the plants. Placed in excellent soil and given every attention, the so-called "tame gladiolus" I have worried over, can't hold a candle to those bulbs that have planted themselves all over the place. These volunteer gladiolus pop up in the most unexpected spots, and seem to take care of themselves. No insects attack the volunteers, no mold or mildew can get a foothold. It has puzzled me for years how self-propagated seeds and bulbs can fend for themselves.

Last year, I had the surprise of my life. In the most strategic and well selected spots, great masses of godetia sprang to life. To my knowledge it has been several years since I tried to raise godetia from seed. Always, my efforts were rewarded by puny plants, not worth worrying about. All of a sudden; long after godetia had been scratched from my list of hopefuls, my garden sprang to life with masses of the most beautiful flowers I had ever seen in the godetia class.

The same thing is happening this year. I had so many volunteer godetias that I handed them out to friends who had admired their beauty in 1956. Now, these volunteer godetias are all over Carmel, stronger and better than any seed packet can offer.

Two Carmel Writers Address Librarians

On Saturday morning the members of the Golden Gate District of the California Library Association met at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey for their annual conference. Approximately 250 members were present to hear their president, Miss Ethel Sollday, speak of the rich resources available here on the Monterey Peninsula among the writers, teachers, and artists living here. Both of the speeches of the day were given by residents of this area.

In the morning, Dr. David Harold Fink of Carmel Highlands spoke on the subject A Psychiatrist Looks at Libraries. As a practicing neuro-psychiatrist, Dr. Fink emphasized the role of libraries in the educational systems of today. He said that three things are necessary for an education. They are 1) teaching by educated persons in any given field. 2) laboratories in which to experiment in that field, and 3) libraries in which are stored the learning of all ages.

Mr. Harlan Ware of Carmel spoke before the group in the afternoon. Talking of the life and problems of the person who chooses to make his living by writing, he illustrated many of his points by mentioning events from his own experience. He spoke also of a practice which seems to be used by many writers, that of solving problems through the exercise of the subconscious mind. Mr. Ware said that some people might think of this as prayer.

Other librarians in this area who assisted Miss Sollday in planning the conference were Miss Betty Martin of Monterey College, Miss Margaret Thompson of Fort Ord, Mrs. Lois Koolwyk of Monterey County Library, Mr. George Luckett of the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School, and Mrs. Ruth Thornburg of the Harrison Memorial Library of Carmel.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

Several of the new books this week are titles for which we have had requests. There are many others, but these brief annotations about the demanded ones may serve to recall them to your minds.

Taking them alphabetically, which librarians always do when they can't think of a more interesting arrangement, we begin with Diana Barrymore's Too Much, Too Soon. The title is very apt, although its opposite might also have been appropriate, because Diana Barrymore seems to have had everything in life except the love and secure home life which children need and want. Too Much, Too Soon is a bitter book, full of the names of the great ones of stage and cinema.

Field Marshall Lord Alanbrooke was Chief of the Imperial General Staff and close advisor to Winston Churchill during the last war. From Lord Alanbrooke's diaries, Sir Arthur Bryant has constructed a book entitled The Turn of the Tide, which covers the war from 1939 through 1943. It is especially noteworthy because of the fresh and honest opinions voiced by Lord Alanbrooke about the war and about the rulers and statesmen of our times.

Another biography, this one by a beloved character of today, is Take My Life by Eddie Cantor. The book is filled with Eddie's family and friends, from his beginning ups and downs to his final great success, all told with the warmth and kindness we associate with the great Cantor. The photographs in this book will make you glad if you are in your middle years because only if you are that old can they recall to you the wonderful shows, the entertaining people, pictured here. By all means, read Take My Life!

Emily Kimbrough continues to jaunt around the world and write about her excursions. If you are numbered among her devotees, you will be happy to learn that her latest is here. The title is Water, Water, Everywhere.

Some critics say that the influence of television has brought about the influx of books dealing with a moment by moment detailing of the events of a certain day or period of time. It is the you-can-see-it-how sort of thing translated into a book length piece. Such a book is Day of Infamy by Walter Lord. It is a dynamic picture of December 7, 1941, and the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Norman Vincent Peale is perhaps as popular as any of today's writers doing the easy to understand type of religious writing. Perhaps we should have said easy to understand and apply, because in his writings Dr. Peale stresses the day by day application of his teachings. His latest book is called Stay Alive All Your Life and in it he gives the reader advice for living a joyous and fruitful life.

There are several new novels, one of which is The Short Reign of Pippin IV by John Steinbeck. Listed as "a fabrication," it is charmingly written and it illustrates once again the versatility of Mr. Steinbeck and his delightful ability with words. Readers of his former works may be surprised with this one, but pleased.

How police dragnets go into action

You've probably seen police detectives launch many a case on television or in the movies with an All Points Bulletin. But did you realize you were watching your telephone system swing into action at the same time? The Teletype networks that carry police "APBs" are put in and maintained by telephone people. These nets link hundreds of real-life law enforcement agencies on the Coast. They're used to exchange facts on police cases. News services, air lines, and many others use similar hook-ups. Teletype networks are one of the services we offer as part of our communications job.

Mobile telephones are another service we offer. They have lots of uses in cars, taxis, trucks. We also supply private-line phone systems, used by many government agencies and businesses to link offices and plants. Special services like these provide communications of many kinds that are vital to your everyday life.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

"America's Natural Resources"

In order properly to evaluate this book (Ronald Press, 1957, $3.75), one of the best introductions to a study of conservation that has been published in recent years, it is necessary to know something about its sponsors, the Natural Resources Council of America. The character of any book is naturally determined by the master mind or minds behind it.

The Natural Resources Council is a non-profit, non-political organization of 40 national and regional associations interested in conservation. At least once a year its representatives get together and survey the whole field of conservation problems. The main purpose and value of the organization is in the close intercommunication between the various facets of the conservation movement and the interplay of ideas that is thus made possible.

The subject of this book review carries out the interplay of ideas by approaching the topic of conservation from eleven different viewpoints, each one explained by an expert in its field. This plan has a great advantage over that of a single authorship. It gives the reader a movement-wide evaluation of the subject. The essence of the approach is summed up in a single sentence in the final chapter by Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, President of the Wildlife Management Institute. He writes: "The development of the movement for conservation of renewable natural resources approached maturity when the fact finally became apparent that it is impossible to manage one resource independently of the others."

Specific topics considered include: Soil; Water; Grasslands; Forests; Wildlife; Fish; and Parks and Wilderness. There are also general chapters on the ecological approach to conservation, the effect of population growth (often referred to nowadays as "explosion") on conservation, one on land use principles and a final one on the need for an over-all natural resources policy. Simple bibliographies of each subject are appended.

Each chapter is written in a style understandable by the layman. This is quite in contrast with much of the professional literature in the conservation field which is intended for the needs of fellow conservationists. Parenthetically I might say that the writer of this column has also directed his observations toward the man in the street. Simplification of the issues involved without at the same time losing accuracy is highly desirable, if more recruits to the conservation army are to be enlisted.

I should like to comment especially on the chapter on Parks and Wilderness by Howard Zahniser, Executive Secretary of The Wilderness Society. This is a branch of the conservation movement all too often overlooked in conservation text-books. The ranks of wilderness conservationists have been increasing rapidly in recent years and it is a source of gratification that the editor and publishers of this book have recognized that fact and have given us such an authoritative summary of the subject.

The setting aside of wilderness preserves, to be protected against "development" by keeping them roadless, is one of the types of use of a natural resource that has only during the last 30 years received any recognition. It is now gradually coming to be recognized as just as authentic use of land for the benefit of mankind as the growing of marketable crops. Mr. Zahniser has done an excellent job of presenting this viewpoint to his readers.

AN ORDINANCE REPEALING PORTIONS OF THE EXISTING PROVISIONS OF DIVISION 2, PART III, OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, AND REENACTING SAID DIVISION WITH NEW PROVISIONS CONCERNING BUSINESS LICENSES.

The City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea does ordain as follows:

Section 1. Sections 425 through Section 469 inclusive, Division 2, Part III, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, as presently constituted, except Section 434 and Section 454, and sub-sections thereof, are hereby repealed.

Section 2. That Section 434, Division 2, Part III, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, shall henceforth be designated as Section 417 thereof.

Section 3. That Section 454 and sub-sections thereof, of Division 2, Part III, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, shall henceforth be designated as Section 418 thereof.

Section 4. That the following sections of Division 2, Part III, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, are hereby enacted as follows:

Section 419. DEFINITIONS. Unless it is apparent from the context that another meaning is intended, the following words when used herein shall have the meaning attached to them by this section.

(a) CITY. Whenever the word "city" shall appear in this division it shall be construed to mean the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

(b) PERSON. Whenever the word "person" shall appear in this division it shall be construed to mean and include a natural person, firm, co-partnership, corporation, or other association.

(c) BUSINESS. Whenever the word "business" shall appear in this division it shall be construed to include all and every kind of lawful business, trade, calling, profession, or occupation.

(d) PEDDLER. Whenever the word "peddler" shall appear in this division it shall be construed to mean any hawker, vendor or other person who goes from house to house, place to place, or in or along the streets, within the city, selling and making immediate delivery, or offering for sale and immediate delivery, any goods, wares, merchandise, or anything of value, in possession of the peddler, to persons other than manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers, or retailers in such commodities.

(e) SOLICITOR. The word "solicitor" shall be deemed to mean and include every agent, canvasser, or other person who travels from place to place, or house to house, and solicits or takes orders from, or canvasses for, or makes demonstrations of, any goods, wares, merchandise, or things or articles of value, or advertising, or for services to be performed in the future, or for subscriptions to periodicals or tickets of admission to entertainments or memberships in any clubs, or travels from place to place or house to house and solicits, requests or urges persons to ride or become guests of such canvasser or his principal for the purpose of viewing any real estate subdivision or other development, enterprise or project, for the purpose of interesting such person in investment therein; provided, however, that this definition shall not include persons engaging in any wholesale business who sell to, or solicit orders for merchandise from, merchants who are engaged in a retail business buying goods, wares, merchandise, or other personal property, for the purpose of resale thereof.

(f) FIXED PLACE OF BUSINESS. The term "fixed place of business" for the purpose of this division, is hereby defined to be the premises within the city where a business is continuously conducted from day to day and regularly kept open for the purpose of said business. The term "regular place of business," for the purpose of this division, is hereby defined as having the same meaning as "fixed place of business." Every business not conducted at a "fixed place of business" or at a "regular place of business," as said terms are herein defined, is, for the purpose of this ordinance, termed a "transient business," whether the person conducting such transient business is or is not a resident of the city.

Every person engaging in any "transient business" in the city, as herein defined, and who has procured a license therefor, shall have the right to sell the goods, wares or merchandise or engage in the business for which the said "Transient License" was issued at a fixed place of business without procuring any additional license therefor. Every person engaging in business at a "fixed place of business" in the city, as herein defined, and who has procured a license therefor, shall have the right to deliver the goods, wares or merchandise for which such license was issued, at any place in the city, without procuring any additional license therefor. In the issuance of "transient licenses" and licenses for "fixed places of business" or "regular places of business" no discrimination or distinction shall ever be made against non-residents of the city, in favor of residents of the city, and residents and non-residents of the city shall be entitled to equal rights in all matters relating to the issuance of licenses.

No business shall be conducted at any fixed place of business within any district in the city where such business is prohibited by the zoning laws of the city, and no license shall be issued for any place of business unless the zoning laws of the city permit or allow such business to be conducted at the location for which application is made.

No bedroom of any place of business licensed, used and occupied as a hotel, motel, inn, rooming house, lodging house or boarding house, shall, for the purposes of this ordinance, ever be construed to be a "fixed place of business" or a "regular place of business" for any business other than such hotel, motel, inn, rooming house, lodging house or boarding house. All persons claiming any such room of such hotel, motel, inn, rooming house, lodging house or boarding house, licensed, used and occupied as such, shall, for the purposes of this ordinance, be deemed to be conducting a transient business, and shall be required to procure a proper transient license therefor.

(g) WHOLESALE BUSINESS. For the purpose of this division the term "wholesale business" is defined to be every business conducted solely for the purpose of selling goods, wares or merchandise in wholesale lots to retail merchants for resale at retail.

(h) RETAIL BUSINESS. For the purpose of this division the term "retail business" is defined to be every business conducted for the purpose of selling, or offering for sale, any goods, wares, or merchandise, other than as a part of a "wholesale business" as hereinbefore defined.

(i) GROSS SALES. The term "gross sales" as used herein shall mean the gross sales received from business transacted within the city, and shall include the total amount of sales price of all sales, the total amount charged or received for the performance of any act, service or employment of whatever nature it may be, whether such service, act or employment, is done as a part of or in connection with the sale of goods, wares, or not, for which a charge is made or credit allowed, including all receipts, cash, credits and property of any kind or nature; provided, that cash discounts allowed or taken on sales shall not be included and this ordinance shall not be construed to impose any tax upon any business or transaction which the city is not authorized to license or tax under the laws of the State of California, or of the United States. Any tax required by law to be included or added to the purchase price and collected from a customer or purchaser is deductible. Such part of the sales price of any property previously sold returned by the purchaser to the seller which is refunded by the seller by way of cash or credit allowances or any property given by the purchaser to the seller as a part of the purchase price and so accepted for resale shall be deducted for the purpose of determining the gross sales hereunder.

(j) FEE; TAX. Wherever the term "license fee" is used herein, it shall be defined as license tax.

Section 420. LICENSE REQUIRED. It shall be unlawful for any person, whether as principal or agent, clerk or employee, either for himself or for any other person, or for anybody, corporation, or otherwise, to commence or carry on any kind of lawful business, trade, calling, profession or occupation in the city, without first having procured a license from said city so to do, or without complying with any and all regulations of such business, trade, calling, profession or occupation contained in this ordinance.

Section 421. SEPARATE VIOLATIONS. The carrying on of any business, trade, calling, profession or occupation as aforesaid, without first having procured a license from said city so to do, or without complying with any and all regulations of such business, trade, calling, profession or occupation contained in this ordinance, shall be deemed a separate violation of this ordinance for each and every day that such business, trade, calling, profession or occupation is carried on.

Section 422. SEPARATE LICENSES. A separate license must be obtained for each branch, establishment or separate place of business in which the business is carried on.

Except as otherwise in this division especially provided, a separate license must be obtained for each kind or class of business carried on at one location.

Section 423. FORM AND RECORD OF LICENSE. It shall be the duty of the License Collector of said city to prepare and issue a license under this division for the person, firm or corporation liable to pay a license hereunder, duly signed by the City Clerk or his Deputy, and to state in such license the section of this division under which the license is issued, the period of time for which same shall run, the name of the person, firm or corporation to whom issued, the business, trade, calling, profession or occupation for which the same is issued, and the location or place of business, trade, calling, profession or occupation for which the same is issued, and for that purpose the License Collector may confer with persons in interest and may require any person to file his affidavit as to the character of such business. In no case shall any mistake by the License Collector in stating the amount or the terms of such license or the time for which it is to run, prevent or prejudice the collection by the city of what shall actually be due, with all costs, from anyone carrying on a business, trade, calling, profession or occupation without a license provided for by this division.

A record of all licenses issued under this division shall be kept by the License Collector, showing the date issued and all other particulars as required in this section. At the first regular meeting of the City Council in each quarter he shall make a report to that body showing the names of all persons, firms or corporations delinquent in payment of license fees for a period of ninety (90) days, or more, and the amount of same.

Section 424. TRANSFER OF LICENSES.

(a) Location. No License Tax Registration Certificate shall be valid except for the location for which the original application therefor was made and the Registration Certificate issued. In the event of the removal of such licensed business to another location, the original of the License Tax Registration Certificate shall be presented to the Tax & License Collector of the city, together with a statement of such removal, setting forth the proposed location. Said License Tax Registration Certificate, together with the statement of removal, shall be presented to the Building Inspector of the city for his approval, and if approved shall thereafter be presented to the City Council of the city for validation thereof.

(b) Ownership. No license tax registration certificate shall be transferred except where the business taxed is transferred, whether by sale or otherwise, to another person or persons under such circumstances that the real or ultimate ownership of the business after the transfer is substantially similar to the real or ultimate ownership existing before the transfer. Such transfer shall be accomplished by the presentation of the original of the License Tax Registration Certificate, properly endorsed by the original licensee, to the Tax & License Collector of the city, who shall thereupon certify to the validity of the transfer and present such certificate to the City Council for validation thereof.

Section 425. LICENSE EXHIBITING. Every person having a license under the provisions of this division for carrying on a business at a fixed place of business, shall keep such license posted for exhibition while in force in some conspicuous part of said place of business. Every person having such a license and not having a fixed place of business, shall carry such license with him at all times while carrying on the business for which the same was granted. Every person having a license shall produce and exhibit same whenever requested to do so by any police officer, or by any officer authorized to issue, inspect or collect licenses.

Section 426. LICENSE FEE A CIVIL OBLIGATION. The amount of any license fee imposed by this division shall be deemed a debt to the city, and any person carrying on any lawful business in said city, without having a license from said city so to do, shall be subject to an action in the name of the city in any court of competent jurisdiction for the collection of the amount of license fee by this ordinance imposed on such business.

Section 427. EFFECT ON CIVIL OBLIGATION. The conviction and punishment of any person for transacting any business without a license, shall not excuse or exempt such person from the payment of such license tax due or unpaid at the time of such conviction, and nothing herein shall prevent a criminal prosecution for any violation of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 428. LICENSE TAX.

(a) When Payable — Proration. All license taxes shall be paid in advance upon the original issuance and annually thereafter at the office of the License Collector in legal currency of the United States. In all cases except those in which the license tax shall be based on the GROSS SALES, the applicant shall upon filing his application pay not less than the prescribed annual license tax in advance, except as follows:

If the application is made during the quarter beginning October first, 75% of the said annual license tax shall be paid.

If the application is made during the quarter beginning January first, 50% of the said annual license tax shall be paid.

If the application is made during the quarter beginning April first, 25% of the said annual license tax shall be paid.

All licenses covering businesses with fixed places of business within the city shall continue until cancelled or revoked except as otherwise provided herein. All other licenses shall be annual licenses and the tax shall be due and payable on the first day of July of each year; shall be and become delinquent on the 31st day of July next thereafter; and annual licenses shall expire on the 30th day of June of each year.

(b) Daily Licenses. The daily licenses in this division provided shall be due and payable to the city each day in advance.

(c) Penalty. If any license provided for by this division shall remain unpaid for more than 30 days after the same is due, a penalty of 25% shall be added to the same and collected by the officer or employee of the city having charge of the collection of licenses.

Section 429. EXEMPT—WHAT PERSONS ARE.

(a) Charities etc. The provisions of this ordinance shall not be deemed or construed to require the payment of a license to conduct, manage, or carry on, any business, occupation or activity, or require the payment of any license from any institution or organization which is conducted, managed, or carried on wholly for the benefit of charitable purposes from which profit is not derived, either directly or indirectly, by any

And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them."

junior college education. The issue is not one of free junior college educational opportunity for our kids. This Carmel School District has paid the costs of junior college education for its kids, not to mention quite a few grey-beards, ever since the Carmel district was formed. The issue is: which is the best way of financing our kids' junior college education; to continuing to pay tuition tax or buy into a junior college district. So far it has been better to remain out so that our kids will have freedom of choice as to which junior college they attend. A bill in the Legislature, which is not yet passed, would double the amount of the tuition fees of outside districts (this is allocated to capital outlay of the junior college). The enthusiasts for Carmel's joining the Monterey Junior College have used this bill as a squeeze play. The issue is strictly a financial one... and emotional, as all issues manage to become in Carmel. It has no effect on the kids' education, one way or the other.

The League of Women Voters presented a green paper backing up their recommendation that the Carmel District get into the Monterey J. C. District. Though they are supposed to have been studying this issue for two years, their figures on the financial aspects of such a merger were compiled last week by an assistant in the county school superintendent's office. Mrs. Donald P. Abbott, in presenting the report, stated and repeated a number of times, "This is an educated guess."

The report is obtainable by anybody who wants to pay 10 cents for it. Two facts on which such a report must be based if it is to be of value in forming a cost estimate are not even available yet: whether or not the bill increasing the tuition will pass and how much the increase will be; and what Monterey High School District would charge us for buying into their junior college district, and how much new construction is contracted for: swimming pool, gymnasium, auditorium, and class rooms?

Three citizens pressed for facts which the school board was not able to give: Gunnar Norberg, who has served on the county redistricting committee and is familiar with the problems involved in Carmel's joining the Monterey Junior College District; Carmel City Councilman Francis Whitaker, who protested that if the board calls for an election on the proposition of our joining the Monterey Junior College District we will be outvoted, as we would in future bond elections, though Carmel will have to pay proportionally the greater share. Another voice was raised which should not be ignored. Ted Fehring, who was elected last week to the school board to replace J. O. Handley on July 1, asked that a citizens' committee like the one that evaluated Carmel District's need for a bond election be appointed to make a financial study of this issue. He was thanked for his suggestion but no action was taken. He served on both citizens' committees, recommending against a bond issue in the first instance and several years later, when conditions had changed and the need existed, recommending for a bond election.

The League of Women Voters' report, based on a guess that the increased tuition bill would pass and a guess as to what its amount would be, and a guess as to how many Carmel kids would be attending Monterey Junior College in the next year and in 1965 based, in turn, on how the school population is increasing in Michigan and California, adding 30 percent for us, hit on 43 cents tax for this district if we stay out and continue to send our kids to junior college on tuition (state figures for this is 35 cents; Monterey College officials' 39). If we go into Monterey Junior College District, the league estimates the tax will be 44 cents but they point out this doesn't include what we'd have to pay to buy the Monterey plant or for new construction.

It was a very good try but ill advised because in a few weeks there will be facts available on the bill and on Monterey's asking price. The league would have appeared in better light if it had gone along with the citizens who are asking the board to wait until the cost facts are in. Nobody loses anything by waiting. The kids' educational opportunities are not affected, and the citizens have a right to know what their tax bill will be, especially when they would not have a chance of voting down a merger in a general election for the Junior College District, nor of defeating bond issues in the future. —W.C.

IT'S BETTER TO LIVE RICH

Than Die Rich!

This is a pretty smart proverb.

How often people have said, "Some day I'd like to have a Hammond Organ. I'd love to roll out those big chords, pull out all those orchestra combinations..."

Well, what are you waiting for?

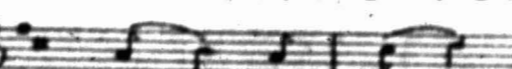

It's easier than you think to play a Hammond Organ. Even simple tunes sound rich and grand, with all the thousands of tone combinations a Hammond gives you.

And you don't have to be rich to live rich! The Spinnet Model costs only $135 down, with three years to pay.

Come in—and see what it's like to live a little!

WATER

The Most Important Thing In Life

No matter how carefully designed and constructed, a public water system is never completed. Water mains must inevitably follow a city's growth, and in most cases, must actually precede it.

There are three principal reasons for extending or increasing the size of water mains:

First, to serve new territory;

Second, to improve service to territory already being supplied;

Third, to install permanent construction in advance of street improvement.

Expenditures of the first class, when wisely made, produce additional revenue from new water sales. To some extent this is true of the second class. But rarely, if ever, is additional revenue produced by an expenditure of the third category. Therefore, such expenditures are regarded as contributions to the common good. Consumers are assured that California Water & Telephone Company will continue its policy of installing new and larger mains, fire hydrants and other facilities to maintain the highest possible degree of water service.
